

James Parker

Creative Consultant

Bio

James lives his life with a spirit of adventure. As an international filmmaker and cinematographer, he is passionate about exploring the poignancy of the human experience and how storytelling can change the world.

James' work has been featured in international film festivals with broadcast on major cable and network television. He received a Telly, an Emmy nomination and a presidential medal for his work on Botswana's struggle to combat HIV/AIDs. He has captured authentic stories from all walks of life in Singapore, Botswana, India, Sri Lanka, the UK and across the United States.

With a wide range of clients, Parker has worked with fortune 500 commercial customers to major studios and production companies.

Alongside his production expertise, James is a seasoned startup entrepreneur, leading the brand identity, marketing and launch for an international smart mobility company. He secured coverage in USA Today, TechCrunch, Forbes, Digital Trends, CNET and Yahoo for this breakthrough technology, and was awarded Best Product or Service Launch by PR Daily, beating out category competitors including McDonalds and Fender Guitars.